BURNS INDICTED

For Arresting the McNamaras
In Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, June 17.—Detective J. Burns and Jas. Hossick, a city detective of Los Angeles, Cal., were indicted on charges of kidnapping John J. McNamara, secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron workers, from this city and McNamara was indicted on charges of conspiracy to dynamite by the Marion county grand jury to-day.

In all, the grand jury returned eight indictments, but named only the three men in the charges. Three of the indictments are against McNamara, who is in jail in Los Angeles, where he was taken after being arrested in this city. One indictment charges him with "conspiracy to dynamite industrial work of the Peoria & Pekin Union railroad at Peoria, Ill.," and the other two are said to be for storing dynamite in the city.

and The Loss is Thirty Thousand Dollars.

NEW YORK STORE DAMAGED

For a Time it Looked Like A Great Fire Was Unavoidable.

Clarksville, Tenn., June 19.—At an early hour Sunday morning Clarksville was visited by the worst fire for several years. It originated in the Dixie theater, in the heart of the city, and for several hours it looked as though the entire business section was doomed.

The theater was a total loss, as also was Pearson's dry goods store. The New York Store, owned by Leo Folk, was damaged several thousand dollars by water. The total loss is about $30,000, with $15,000 insurance.

In the theater a man named Rogers Abbey was sleeping and he had a narrow escape, not being discovered until his clothing was burned off. He was painfully but not seriously injured.

GOV. KNOTT DIED SUNDAY

Noted as a Statesman From

MADE DULUTH FAMOUS.

Was Governor of Kentucky for a Term of Four Years.

Lebanon, Ky., June 19.—James Proctor Knott, former governor of Kentucky and prominent for many years in congress, died Sunday afternoon at his home in this city at the age of 82 years. He had been enfeebled and partially blind for several years.

Mr. Knott was admitted to the bar in 1851 and took up the practice of law at Memphis, Mo., where he lived until 1862. He was elected a member of the Missouri legislature in 1858 and was attorney-general for the State from 1859 until 1862. He was elected to congress from Kentucky in 1867 and served one term. In 1877 he was again elected to congress and served another term. From 1883 to 1887 he was governor of Kentucky.

During his term in congress he was regarded as one of the ablest speakers on the democratic side and while speaking against an appropriation for the betterment of harbor facilities for Duluth, Minn., he referred to that city as the "zenith city of the unsalted seas," an expression which made him famous the country over. His widow survives him.

Havana, Cuba, June 17.—Practically no progress was made to day in the uncovering of the Maine, the pumps merely being used to keep the water a trifle below the ten foot level, which was reached yesterday. The work of removing the mud that covers the exposed portions of played, but a terrific rain storm soon compelled the suspension of the task. In many places the material covering the decks and filling the interior spaces to a depth of several feet, heretofore supposed to be harbor silt, proves to be a coral-like formation, defying removal by water pressure and necessitating much tedious work with picks.

Lightning Kills Few.

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chances of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater,
but not if Electric Bitters be used,
as Robert Madison, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters.

that for other forms of the same crime.

TELESCOPIC TANGLE.

A ruralite approached the clerk in a pawnshop and, looking all about him, inquired:
"Keep telescopes here?"
"Yes, sir," replied the clerk,
"want to see some?"
The man nodded and the sales-

"Here's the best one we have in the place."

The stranger looked at the glass in disgust a moment, then he blurted:

"That's a fine thing to put clothes in, isn't it? Do you take me for a burlesque actress?"

CAUSE AND EFFECT.

"The prima donna of our com-

CURIOUS PLACE OF WORSHIP

Cathedral of Moscow Is Strange in Outline and Has Had a Most Extraordinary History.

One of the most extraordinary and fantastic Christian places of worship in the world is the cathedral of Moscow, strange not only in outline, but even stranger in its history, says the Strand Magazine. No one knows the architect's name, but the story goes that the czar ordered his eyes to be put out as soon as the church was completed, so that he should never be able to surpass his work. The idea of the building was inspired by the wickedest and maddest monarch who ever sat on a throne—Ivan the Terrible of Moscow. This uncanny looking edifice has been luridly described by a well-known writer. "It is a striking memorial of a fearful era. Standing in the shadow of the Kremlin wall, on soil saturated fathoms deep with the blood of innocent martyrs, examine the building closely and call to memory the people by whom it was produced. Then, and then only, may the conception of this fungus-like excrescence seem possible and Vasili Blajenni stands revealed as an expression of inordinate vanity, uncontrolled passion and insatiate lust. Like attributes without a soul—monstrous, horrible."

THE RISING GENERATION

"My boy, I'm indeed surprised to hear such profanity from you!"

"Yep, ain't it great? An' I only six years old!"

DEPTH OF THE ATLANTIC.

It is now possible to assert that in but few places has the Atlantic a depth exceeding 3,000 fathoms, or three and a quarter miles. Its greatest depth is about 100 miles north of the island of St. Thomas, where it reaches 3,875 fathoms, or about four miles and a quarter. Except in the neighborhood of its coast line and in certain shallower areas, the floor of the Atlantic basin at its widest part lies at a depth of from 2,000 to 8,000 fathoms, the slopes being extremely gradual. In some parts, as for instance to the westward of Ireland, the slope is only about six feet to the mile. Were the waters removed, the bottom of the ocean would appear much more level than some people think.

EARLY OBSERVATION OF RAIN.

The rain gauge made in 1639 by Benedetto Castelli, Galileo's contemporary, has been regarded as the first, but evidence of earlier instruments has been found by Dr. Y. Wada, of the Korean Meteorological observatory at Chemulpo.

From Korean records, it seems that rain gauges were regularly used as early as 1442. They were bronze vases 15 inches deep and seven inches in diameter, mounted on pillars, and King Sejo ordered them placed at the observatory and supplied to the provinces and cantons, reports of the observations to be sent to court.

THE ARTIST AT WORK.

Two well dressed women waiting for a car at Broadway and Forty-second street the other afternoon were discussing the son of one.

"You wanted him to be a pianist, didn't you?" his mother was asked by the other woman.

"Yes," she replied. "We spent a great deal of money to that end. He had several of the finest teachers in New York."

"Did he ever do anything with his music?"

The mother smiled faintly. "Yes," she said; "he's out west now playing a callopie in a circus parade."—New York Telegraph.

OR THE DEAD ONES.

RESULTS THAT REMAIN

Are Appreciated by Hopkinsville People.

Thousands who suffer from backache and kidney complaint have tried one remedy after another, finding only temporary benefit. This is discouraging, but there is one special kidney medicine that cures permanently and there is plenty of proof right here in Hopkinsville.

Here is the testimony of one who used Doan's Kidney Pills years ago, and now states that the cure was lasting.

Miss L. A. Hester, 417 Cleveland St., Hopkinsville, Ky., says: "I believe there is little need of anyone suffering from backache when Doan's Kidney Pills can be had. The prompt and thorough relief which followed their use in my case has given me great faith in their merits. In the summer of 1903, I suffered greatly from soreness and lameness across the small of my back and other difficulties arising from weak kidneys. The contents of two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from L. A. Johnson & Co.'s Pharmacy, were all that was required to free me from the distressing pain in my back and restored my kidneys to a normal condition. I publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills at that time and although four years have since elapsed, I still hold a high opinion of them."

COUP OF GREAT COLLECTOR

How Charles Wertheimer Bought Furlished House in Order to Get Priceless Chinese Vase.

The late Charles Wertheimer when asked on one occasion what he considered to be his astutest business coup, thought for a while and then told how once when he was walking through a Brighton square he espied through an open window what he knew to be a priceless Chinese vase. He went to the nearest postoffice, examined a local directory and found the name of the resident. Then he called and asked for the gentleman and was shown into the study under the name of "Hamilton." He briefly explained that he was looking for a modest house in Brighton and had taken a fancy to this one. Would the gentleman entertain an offer for the place as it stood—"lock, stock and barrel?" The owner, a little nonplused, hesitated. "If your offer is reasonable," interrupted "Hamilton," "I will give you an extra thousand." "Call tomorrow at 10:30 then," replied the owner. "Hamilton" did and found him prepared to accept $18,000 for the twenty-two years' unexpired term and the contents of the residence.

Although this was well over market value, "Hamilton" at once closed, adding the extra thousand, according to promise. As, however, he afterward sold the vase for $35,000, his coup was unmistakable.

GOOD ONE ON BERNARD SHAW

Cincinnati Librarian Said They Had "All the Works of the Great Buffoon."

"Bernard Shaw's new biography—a biography written by an American—is a piece of work that will win this brilliant playwright the respect he deserves."

The speaker, a Cincinnati poet, smiled.

"Mr. Bernard Shaw is well known," he said, "but not well respected. His profound and serious mind is regarded—dear knows why—as the mind of a trifle."

"For example, I desired the other day to read up a little natural history, and I visited a Cincinnati library to consult the one pre-eminent natural history authority."

"Have you," I said, "the works of the great Buffon?"

"Yes, sir," said the clerk, "we have all the great buffoon's works, sir."

"And he laid before me Shaw's 'Plays, Pleasant and Unpleasant.'"

WIT WON FORTUNE.

Talleyrand was nineteen when, on his first arrival in Paris, in 1773, he attended a reception of Mme. du Barry at Versailles. The young men around him were boasting of the favors they had received from the fair sex, and the devastation they had wrought. Talleyrand sat thoughtful and silent. "You say nothing, Sir Abbe," said the lady of the house to him at length. "Ah, no, madame," replied he; "I was indulging in very sad reflections." "And these were?" "How much easier it is in a city like Paris to win women than abbacies." The king, to whom the reply was repeated, is said to have conferred on him the benefice of St. Denis at Rheims, with a yearly revenue of twenty thousand pounds.

FRENCH TRAVELING SHOW.

The traveling showman is commoner in France than in England, particularly in country places. He has almost vanished as an individual from English country fairs; he exists only as the proprietor of galloping horses or boxing saloons or fat lady shows. But at the smaller country fairs in France you may still find the juggler, with his tinsel and tights, and the strong man, and the sometimes quite charming dancer. The most ordinary French crowd has a curiosity about art of any kind unknown in England.—London Chronicle.

ARITHMETICALLY SPEAKING.

Johnny had just finished scratching a sum in the surface of the new sidewalk when his father arrived on the scene.

"What is this I see in the cement?" demanded the irate parent.

"Those, father," replied the youth, "are concrete figures."

President's Silver Hold-Up.

Washington, June 18.—With a stream of silver gifts arriving since invitations were issued for the celebration for President and Mrs. Taft's wedding anniversary, it is predicted that the array of silver will surpass anything ever seen at any home in the country. Nearly 5,000 invitations have been issued, and to take care of the vast crowd, arrangements have been made for an overflow from the east room into the garden.

Glass Works Break.

Notices have been sent out to stockholders of the Frankfort Modes Glass Works, calling for a meeting to arrange for a liquidation of the corporation. The company will go out of business, after making a valiant struggle in the face of difficulties and the machinery and factory will be sold.

The glass works was one of the largest business enterprises in Frankfort and distributed, when running at capacity, $5,000 each week in payroll.—Frankfort New-Journal.

The photo contest held by Cook & Higgins closed on June 15. Prof. P. B. Brooks, of McLean, won the first prize of a $20 kodak. "Playmates" was the name of the winning photographs. Mr. M. E. Bacon got second with a view of Ninth street from the College hill. There were 175 entries to the contest. The judges were Miss Louisa Nourse, Messrs. H. G. Brownell and Clyde M. Hill.

Squirrel Law is Out.

The squirrel law expired Wednesday night, and lovers of that sport are at liberty now to go to the woods and kill all they find. Squirrels are said to be more plentiful this season, and they will be on the market soon.

Rand, McNally & Co's. Latest.

Thirty-five years ago Rand McNally & Co., of Chicago, first published their Indexed Packet maps, which have since been issued annually and have become a recognized authority. They differ from the wall maps only in size and convenience of form. Details are carefully entered and all features are included. The 1911 map, just out, includes all steam railroads and proposed extensions, all new and proposed lines, all new counties, postoffices and population statistics.

The maps, which sell for 25 cents, offer in compact form the most complete and practical information it is possible to obtain. They are of the greatest aid to shippers and travelers as well as employees and students preparing to enter the civil and railway mail service.

Heaviest Insurance.

Rodman Wanamaker, is the most heavily insured man in the world. He has just taken out $1,000,000 more insurance on his life. Bringing the total up to $4,500,000, most of it in the large companies of this country. Forty-three years old healthy, hard working and industrious, he declares that a man's first duty is to insure his family against financial embarrassment in case of his death. Rodman Wanamaker is the son of John Wanamaker and vice-president of the great mercantile concern. He devotes from ten to sixteen hours a day to business, and his chief recreation is traveling over the Philadelphia store, which trip he covers several times a day.

First Newspaper.

The first paper published in the world was the Pekin, China, Gazette in 911. It is still running and little improvement has been made since it started a thousand years ago. The Boston News Letter was the first paper published in America, the first issue dated April 24, 1704. Fragmentary evidence has been found that Julius Caesar edited a newspaper for a time 59 B. C.

The new Cooper Addition As Platted Accepted by The City Council.

The regular meeting of the council was held Friday night with all present.

R. E. Cooper, G. L. Campbell and Odie Davis appeared and tendered a plat of the new Cooper Addition on the southwest side of the city with a deed to the street extensions and several new streets. The plat was formally accepted by the city.

On the recommendation of the mayor, the new street east of the Pioneer Cemetery, from 13th to 15th streets, was named Ferrell street, in honor of the late Maj. J. O. Ferrell. The street adjoins the lot known as Ferrell's School lot.

A recommendation that the name of 13th street, the longest street in the city without a turn, be changed to Pioneer Avenue was not acted on. The street extends from the T. C. Railroad to the hill west of Cate's Mill, nearly two miles, and has recently been extended at both ends.

The Cemetery Committee was authorized to have more elaborate plans made for the Southern Entrance to Riverside Cemetery than the first appropriation of $500 would cover. The appropriation will be increased.

The telephone pole in front of the driveway being made by the L. & N. on 9th St. was ordered removed.

The Mayor was authorized to issue some emergency warrants for the Health Department.

She Stayed in Bed.

Ingram, Texas.—"Ever since I became a woman," writes Mrs. E. M. Evans, of this place, "I suffered from womanly troubles. Last fall, I got so bad, I had to stay in bed for nearly a week every month. Since I have taken Cardul, I feel better than I have for years." You can rely on Cardul. It acts on the womanly organs and helps the system to regain its normal state of health, in a natural way. Prepared especially for women, it prevents womanly pains by acting on the cause, and builds up womanly strength in a natural way. Purely vegetable. Mild, but certain in action. Try it.

One Cottage Destroyed and Another Damaged.

Fire about 2 o'clock Saturday morning practically destroyed a cottage on East Seventh street, owned by G. G. Reeder and occupied by William Carroll, causing a loss of about $1,000. Another vacant cottage, near by, owned by the same party, was damaged to the extent of about $100. There was $500 insurance on the buildings. The origin of the fire is not known. The fire department made a quick run, but when they arrived the roof of one of the houses was falling in and it took hard work to save the other building.

Is Highly Complimented By a Baptist Organ in London, England.

The Baptist Times, of London, has the following compliment to Dr. J. N. Prestridge, editor of the Baptist World:

"Dr. J. N. Prestridge, of Louisville, Ky., is already well known to British Baptists, who remember with pleasure his visit to the first Baptist World Congress in London six years ago. That Congress was largely the result of his advocacy, and few men contributed more to its success than he. On him also has fallen much of the burden of preparing for the second Congress, and one of the pleasures which British delegates look forward to at Philadelphia is the renewal of their friendship with Dr. Prestridge, for greater than his genius for organization and his ability as a writer and an editor, in his gift for friendship and for making friends. No fitter man could have been found as American secretary of the Baptist World Alliance.

"Dr. Prestridge exercises a powerful influence on Baptist thought in the States through his paper, the Baptist World. He has shown that he has the true journalistic instinct in opening out new lines in the conduct of a religious newspaper, which completely justified its name. He is a force, not only in the Baptist life of America, but throughout the world."

WAR SHOULD BE MADE FAIR

Writer Thinks Civilization Might Invent Code Something Like That of the Duello.

War is now carried on in an uncivilized fashion. It is fought as if all participants were savages. What is politely called strategy is taking the enemy unawares and not giving him a fair show. Formerly, when two men had a quarrel, they settled their differences in the manner of modern warfare. But now, whenever one man stabs another in the back, or men shoot each other at sight because of a grievance or an agreement that they are enemies, we justly say that they are uncivilized, and in the measure that they fall upon one another like wild beasts we declare that they render uncivilized the communities in which they live. On the other hand, where the code duello exists, and the civilization is of a high order, there is a court of honor to determine among gentlemen of similar connections whether the challenge is justified or not, and something of the conditions under which the fight shall take place. Unfair conditions are not allowed, seconds and an umpire are insisted upon, as well as the presence of surgeons, to prevent unnecessary loss of life. A duel, fought under the code, is a more civilized proceeding than a Kentucky shooting. Could not civilization invent similar amenities for a fight between nations?—Atlantic Monthly.

HE LET FORTUNE SLIP AWAY

Bookseller's Son Sold for $2 a Volume That Not Long After Brought $20,000.

Charles K. Pottle, son of Earl K. Pottle, a veteran bookseller, let a book of great value get out of his hands for $2 when he sold an ancient volume of "The Colonial Laws of Massachusetts" to a stranger.

Mr. Pottle's father learned, he says, that the same volume was sold in New York city recently for $20,000.

"I was not in the store at the time," said Mr. Pottle. "My son, who was in charge, was approached one day by a man who seemed to be an authority on old books. He saw the volume of laws, which was printed in 1642, and bought it for $2."

"On Saturday Major Holcomb came into the store and showed me a newspaper clipping telling of the sale of the same volume for $20,000. It was a pretty good fortune to let go, but we did not realize at that time that it was so valuable."—St. Paul Letter to New York Sun.

TOO REALISTIC.

A still life by Jinn van Huysen in the museum at The Hague was recently injured, but it is believed that the perpetrator was neither vandal nor thief. The picture represents a basket or fruit on which a number of insects have gathered. On a pale yellow apple which is the centerpiece in the cluster of fruit, is a large fly, painted so true to nature, so say the officials of the gallery, that the canvas was injured by some one who endeavored to "shoot" it and brought his cane or hand too close to the canvas. "A tribute to the painter's genius," says the letter recording the fact, "for which the work had to suffer."

WAKENING THE DUKE.

The great Duke of Wellington was among those upon whom sermons have a soporific effect. A strange clergyman who was preaching at the church at Strathfieldaye where the duke was a regular attendant was much surprised by the action of the verger, who at the conclusion of the sermon came up the pulpit stairs, opened the door, slammed it violently, and then reopened it for the preacher to pass out. In the vestry he inquired the meaning of this procedure. "Oh," replied the man, "we always do that to wake the duke."

A TRIUMPH.

"Do you think it is becoming?" she asks, appearing in her newest gown.

"Don't bother about that!" gushes the friend. "It is perfect! It is simply delicious! My dear, it makes you look absolutely helpless."—Judge.

DESCRIPTIVE.

"I want to embroider this tapestry love story. What stitch would you use?"

"If it is a matrimonial romance, I should think cross stitch."

SIR WALTER AT ABBOTSFORD

This is the Centenary of Scott's Entry into Possession of That Famous Estate.

This is a notable year in the history of Abbotsford, for it is the centenary of Sir Walter Scott's entry into possession of the lands ever afterward closely associated with his name. On May 12, 1811, he wrote to his publisher, James Ballantyne, that he had "resolved to purchase a piece of ground sufficient for a cottage and a few fields." That first purchase, which cost £4,000, was a wretched farm by the riverside, the house, says Lockhart, "small and poor, with a common kailyard on one flank and a staring barn on the other, while in front appeared a filthy pond covered with ducks and duckweed, from which the whole tenement had derived the unharmonious designation of Clarty Hole."

Scott spent £50,000 in extending and beautifying the estate, and in Abbotsford, amid the music so delicious to his ear, "the gentle ripple of the Tweed over its pebbles," he breathed his last on the sunny afternoon of September 21, 1832.

ASBESTOS.

The total production of asbestos in the United States for 1910 was the greatest yet recorded, 6,693 tons. This was an increase of 20 per cent. in quantity over the production of 1909. The United States has long held first place as a manufacturer of asbestos goods, but the raw material for that purpose was freely drawn from Canada, at present the chief source of the world's supply. Georgia and Vermont are our chief asbestos producers, the former of amphibole and the latter of chrysotile varieties, the latter being reported by manufacturers to compare favorably with that from Canada. The production in Wyoming and Idaho has advanced but in those states the industry is still in the development stage and has not become permanently established.

ALL THIS FROM ARGENTINA.

Argentina is the greatest exporter of corn in the world; she sends abroad more chilled and frozen meat than any other country. Only Russia excels her in wheat exports, and only Australia contributes more wool to international trade. The story of her occupations is told in the fact that nearly $4,500,000,000 of working capital is represented in the pastoral and agricultural pursuits and in the allied industries, while less than $100,000,000 is involved in manufactures, and this includes electric light and power plants used in the larger cities.—Century Magazine.

DEATH DREAM REALIZED.

A remarkable dream of death was mentioned the other day at a Southward, England, inquest on an infant named George McCarthy. "I had so vivid a dream that my daughter's child was dead," said Mrs. Hendry, the grandmother of the infant, "that I went early in the morning to her house. I found her in bed, and asked her what was wrong with the child. She replied, 'He is all right. What did you think was the matter with him?' I told her of my dream, and asked her to look at the baby. She looked, and the child was dead."

FOOLISH QUESTION.

"How did you get the bruised face?"

"It was caused by the hatrack last night."

"Accidentally?"

"No; I think it attacked me purposely."

MANY USES FOR ASBESTOS

Theater Curtains, Pipe Coverings, Wire Insulation and Other Things Made of the Mineral.

Asbestos plays a more important part in the national life than is generally credited to it. The well-made asbestos theater curtain assures the safety of the audience from stage fires. In the home the asbestos covering of the furnace and heating pipes, or of the gas logs in the open fireplace, makes for economy and comfort. Wherever steam is used as a motive power in factories, on trains or on ships, it is asbestos packing that holds the steam to its work; on the other hand, if electricity is employed, the wires are probably insulated by asbestos tape and the adjacent parts are made of asbestos "lumber." Asbestos shingles and sheathing make houses cooler in summer and warmer in winter and reduce the fire risk. From the ice house, where asbestos protects the brine pipes from the heated air, to the foundry, where it shields the workman from molten metal, in the workshop, the home or the place of amusement, asbestos contributes materially to human welfare.

COULDN'T SEE SMALL OBJECT

Waiter—Will you have a steak, sir?

Guest—Yes, and make it a large one—my eyesight is very poor.

WOULD EMULATE THE EMU.

"We must wage this battle until we get our oppressor, man, reduced to the happy condition of the emu family," said the suffragette orator to her women auditors.

"When the lady emu decides that it is time to raise a family she sounds a call like blowing into the bung hole of a barrel. Mr. Emu comes and scrapes a hole in the ground and by and by there are a dozen eggs there. The male sits on those eggs, hatches 'em out after eight weeks and then takes care of the youngsters until the next hatching season, when they go to the mother. Now that is equal labor and equal responsibility and it is what we women are entitled to."

"Good! Good!" shouted the auditors.—New York Sun.

SCOTCH SABBATARIANISM.

Looking out of the window used to be an indelible offense on the Sabbath. In 1709 the Kirk Session of Edinburgh, "taking into consideration that the Lord's Day is profaned by people standing in the streets, vaguing in the fields and gardens, as also by idly gazing out of the windows, it is ordered that each session take its turn to watch the streets on Sabbath, and to visit each suspected house in each parish by elders and deacons with beadle and officers, and after sermon, when the day is long, to pass through the streets, and to reprove such as transgress and inform on such as do not refrain."

JUDGE SEES DANGER.

"Much of the judicial power has been shifted to the executive branch of the government, and the question now is not what will the courts of New York and Chicago and other places say, but what will Washington say? I say this is un-American and directly opposed to the constitution, which provides that there shall be three separate departments of government. With the balance maintained between judicial, executive and legislative branches of the government there can be no danger to the individual."—Judge Grosscup.

A DISCOVERY.

"I have discovered a way of making our predictions less misleading," said weather bureau employee.

"A new system of calculation?" asked the other.

"No. Instead of using the word 'probably' in our announcements, we will use the word 'possibly.'"

FIGHTING FOR WIFE AT 90

Aged Turkoman, Taken Prisoner by Kurds, Was Brained by Woman He Had Captured.

Describing a feature of a fight between Turkomans and Kurds in Persia, a traveler says: "The Turkomans, who always fight on foot, were ultimately defeated with heavy loss, and many prisoners were taken and still more captives were released. Among the Turkoman prisoners was an old man of ninety, who said that he had joined the expedition in order to secure a new wife. The damsel in question came up during the interrogatory and brained her captor with a stone! During these raids, past and present, the Turkoman appeared to have enjoyed a great and permanent advantage, in that neither Kurd nor Persian ever carried off their women, owing to their ugliness. The Turkoman, on the other hand, preferred Persian to their own women, and thus had a keen incentive, apart from the purely commercial aspect, to engage in these forays, in which no mercy was ever shown to the aged or weary."

HER HINT

Jack—Ah! may I kiss your hand?

Jess—A young man should have higher ambition!

THE TEA DRINKERS.

The chronic tea drinkers of this country are generally the kitchen girls and women who remain in the kitchen and in the house a great deal. The teapot is constantly on the stove and the strong stale brew full of tannic acid and bitter extractives is poured into the stomach at frequent intervals. Here we get not only the stimulation of the caffeine, but the irritation of the tannin derivatives on the stomach mucous membrane. The sooner or later result is sleeplessness, and irritable, fretful disposition, nervous dyspepsia, or even gastritis, and constipation. Of course, the treatment is to stop the cause, treat the insomnia, dyspepsia and constipation, and get fresh air. Tea tasters show earlier than other individuals decay of the teeth. Children up to 15 years should not drink coffee or tea regularly.—Journal of the American Medical Association.

HOW TO THINK YOUNG.

You can help to keep off sagging cheeks if you will only "think young." Never allow the cheek muscles to droop for a single instant. Pleasant thoughts help the muscles as well as the mind. At night massage the relaxed muscles back into place with a good ointment. Sleep on your back without a pillow at night, and if this does not do, tie up the chin in a chin belt. It will hold up the relaxed muscles until your cheeks return to a firmer contour. You can get one by sending to any good beauty shop.—Woman's World.

SCRAPPY SNAKE IS KILLED.

Stooping down to get a drink at a spring near Beaver Valley, Columbia county, Pa., Charles Kline aroused a blacksnake that showed fight and chased him several rods. R. E. Breisch came to his rescue and when Breisch struck the snake with a heavy stick it coiled about the club. It was only after a hard fight that it was killed. It measured six feet two and a half inches and was a thick as Breisch's wrist. Those who have seen it think it was the snake that last summer attacked a number of people and each time escaped.

QUITE THE CONTRARY.

Physician (reflectively)—H'm! The case is one, I think, that will yield to a mild stimulant. Let me see your tongue, madam, if you please.

Husband of patient (hastily)—Doctor, her tongue doesn't need any stimulating.—Stray Stories.

Might Not be Alive.

McMinnville, Tenn.—Mrs. Otie Lett, of this place, writes: "I don't believe I would be living today, if it hadn't been for Cardui. I lay in bed for 27 days, and the doctor came every day, but he did me no good. Finally, he advised an operation, but I would not consent, and instead took Cardui. Now I am going about the house, doing my work, and even doing my washing. Cardui worked wonders in my case. I am in better health than for five years." Cardui is a strengthening tonic for women. It relieves pain, tones up the nerves, builds strength. Try it. At your druggist's.

DR. AMOSS SORRY

He Will Not be Able to Vote for O'Rear.

Speaking of the speech of Judge O'Rear at Richmond, a correspondent of the Louisville Herald says: "He discussed the conditions in Kentucky at the time of the tobacco troubles, but made it plain that he was opposed to mob law and stood for the majesty of the law of the land."

Judge O'Rear's speech was of particular interest to the farmers, for the biggest portion of it had to do with agricultural conditions.

He told of a meeting with Dr. Amoss, of Caldwell county, who was recently tried at Hopkinsville on the charge of being a "night rider," and said that the doctor expressed regret that he was of an opposite political faith, and was, therefore, unable to vote for Judge O'Rear in the event of his nomination.
